

Children Who Are Deaf or Hard of Hearing Learn to Listen and Talk at Clarke!

Clarke serves nearly 1,000 children who are deaf or hard of hearing and their families annually via teleservice and at locations in:

- Boston, MA
- Jacksonville, FL
- New York, NY
- Northampton, MA
- Philadelphia, PA

Clarke provides children who are deaf or hard of hearing with the listening, learning and spoken language skills they need to succeed.

Children supported by Clarke use advanced technologies, including cochlear implants and hearing aids, to maximize their access to sound.

Clarke works with children and their families from infancy through the teen years. Teachers of the deaf, audiologists and speech-language pathologists have the background, training and experience to prepare children academically and socially for a world of possibilities. Clarke children listen and learn in the classroom, run and laugh with their friends on the playground, and have lives filled with music, sports, family and community!

Clarke is committed to helping children reach their full potential. Our goal is to provide parents/guardians with the tools they need to understand their child’s hearing loss, make informed choices about educational options and find the path that is right for their family.

Many Clarke students are ready to attend their neighborhood mainstream schools by kindergarten or first grade.
