

At your convenience.
From any location.

Our Listening and Spoken Language experts are more accessible than ever!

Clarke offers a full range of virtual Listening and Spoken Language (LSL) services for families, children, schools and districts.

Clarke teachers of the deaf, speech-language pathologists and early interventionists provide a comprehensive continuum of virtual services—from infancy through the college search, with family-centered coaching, self-advocacy training, robust mainstream support, audiological consults and everything you'll need in between.

tVisit benefits include:

- Services from Clarke experts from any location
- Customized services to meet the needs of your family, staff, school or district
- Flexible scheduling
- Opportunities for participation by multiple caregivers or team members
- Option to record sessions, which can be viewed later

97%

of caregivers found
tVisits effective in learning how to interact
more productively
with their child.

100%

of caregivers found
tVisits effective in developing and maintaining
a relationship
with their provider.

“Clarke has been with us every step of the way. Reassuring us, walking us through what we should expect before, during and after cochlear implant surgery and activation, providing tools and activities for us to assist our child at home, explaining expected milestone timeframes for a child with hearing loss... and overall fulfilling a need that we could not obtain.”

— Kim and Zeldon (pictured with daughters Kenzie and Zoey)

Clarke teaches children who are deaf or hard of hearing to listen and talk.

CLARKE

SCHOOLS FOR HEARING & SPEECH

855.203.7085 | tvisit@clarkeschools.org

clarkeschools.org/tvisit

tVisit® Teleservices

Virtual Listening and Spoken Language (LSL) Services for Children of All Ages who are Deaf or Hard of Hearing

- ☒ Access to Clarke experts
- ☒ Customized services
- ☒ Flexible scheduling

About tVisits

Teleservice is the application of telecommunications technology to deliver professional services at a distance. Clarke's tVisit Teleservices are customized LSL services provided remotely and tailored to each family, professional or organization's needs.

“August has genuinely enjoyed every tVisit session. Clarke helped him to optimally access sound and taught him the skills to thrive socially and academically.”

—Lisa, mother of a Clarke tVisit student

How It Works

For Families & Children of All Ages

At a scheduled time, caregivers connect with a Clarke professional via secure video conferencing software on a computer or tablet connected to the internet. In a 30-, 45- or 60-minute session, the Clarke professional guides and coaches the family to apply effective strategies that promote their child's LSL development while engaging in everyday activities.

Services include:

- Early intervention services
- Teacher of the deaf services
- Speech-language services
- Educational, speech-language, report and evaluation consultations
- Audiological consultations

For Agencies, Schools and Districts

Clarke offers teacher of the deaf services, in-services, individualized support, consultation and direct care provider support. For example, at a set time, a mainstream educator and their student with hearing loss securely connect with a Clarke professional via internet-supported video conferencing software on a computer or tablet. The Clarke team member works with the student on various skills, including pre-teaching class lessons, reviewing vocabulary and rehearsing ways to self-advocate.

Services include:

- Teacher of the deaf services
- In-services for educators and administrators
- Individualized support
- Consultations and support for on-site educators and therapists
- Audiological consultations

FAQs

☆ Do teleservices provide the same quality of care?

Children, families, educators and administrators served virtually receive the same quality of support provided by a Clarke professional on site.

💻 What equipment is needed?

Participants need:

- a device with video communication capabilities such as a laptop, tablet or smartphone
- high-speed internet connection or cell service that supports video data

✓ Is this service secure?

Yes. Security measures comply with federal regulations on confidentiality and privacy.

💰 What is the cost?

tVisit fees vary. A family's finances should not be a barrier to access. Insurance, district and school reimbursements may be available. Families may qualify for partial or full financial aid. Private pay options are also available.

😊 Do teleservices work for babies and toddlers?

Yes! Clarke's coaching model empowers families and caregivers to become their child's first and best teachers. Clarke experts support the entire family by coaching caregivers to integrate LSL strategies into their daily lives, and helping families understand their child's unique hearing loss and needs.

Schedule a Free Consultation

Email tvisit@clarkeschools.org
or call 855.203.7085